During Old Testament times, Damascus was the capital city of Syria. Damascus is one of the oldest cities in the world. It is at the foot of snowy Mt. Hermon, where the sparkling mountain river Abana suddenly bursts through the open country, and scatters into small streams, creating a paradise of grassy banks and gardens. Damascus is said to have been founded by the son of Aram. It is first mentioned in Scripture in connection with Abraham's steward, who was a native of the place (Gen. 15: 2. ) It was the capital of the kings of Syria, who were almost continually engaged in wars with the kings of Israel and Judah. King David subdued Damascus, but it regained its independence and fought against Israel...
