TVKT-FIFTH AyynKKKAKY. 47. enced we were; and yet such was our freshness and zeal and courage T am not, sure but some of our best work was done then: and another says, I count them the best years of my life, when all work was pleasure, and all service a delight. Nor had Mrs. Wood worth anything to say about those trials, and less about her own share in the labor: so little, indeed, that those who knew and loved her, those admiring graduates of the first years, could hardly wait till some one should rise up to paint the picture as it was. as they had known it, with that calm presence, that strong and gentle face always in the front. Mrs. Woodvorth spoke warmly of her associates and gave them all the praise, and brought her tribute with theirs to the faitlifulness of the early trustees and friends of the school. As she took her seat, a semi-chorus sang with great sweetness and expression, He in tears that soweth, by F. Hiller. How it Looked to the Girls was next on the program. Mrs. Mary Burton Shurtleff, the surviving member of the first graduating class of two. was the first speaker. She was for several years a teacher in the Seminary, and her marriage to Col. G. W. Shurtleff, (now Professor Shurtleff of Obcrlin College), while she was still a teacher here, was one of the episodes of Seminary life in war times....
