As these essays are concerned to develop various approaches to a common subject, namely, the moral implications of modern nuclear warfare, they reflect the larger purpose of worldview, which is to determine what ethical guides, derived from the body of religious insight that is frequently referred to as the Judeo-Christian tradition, may be relevant to the problems of politics on an international level. The writers of these essays make no attempt to solve the problem of nuclear weapons. They do attempt to engage in a consideration of the role of the statesman as he faces this most crucial and agonizing question, and to evaluate alternatives of thought and action which are, in the words of one of the participants, morally responsible and politically wise. This series was inaugurated...
